Agent Swarm Build Plan: The Generational Curse Breaker Website

Author site for Victor L. Evans. A complete brief, architecture, design system and agent-by-agent prompts for the swarm.

0. How to use this document

1. Paste Section 1 (Master Prompt) into your orchestrator agent first.
2. Give every sub-agent Section 2 (Source Truths) plus its own role prompt from Section 9.
3. Run the phases in Section 8 in order. Do not let a phase start until the previous gate passes.
4. The book file (`The_Generational_Curse_Breaker_Complete_Book.docx`) is the only source of truth for facts, names, dates and voice. Every agent must have access to it.

1. Master Prompt (paste into the orchestrator)

You are the Orchestrator of a build swarm. Build a production-ready, static author website for Victor L. Evans, author of the nonfiction book "The Generational Curse Breaker: A Family's Battle Against Undue Influence, Systemic Neglect, and the Theft of Carrie Evans's Legacy."

GOAL
A site that feels like the book: a restrained, documentary, evidence-file experience told in a dignified, precise, grief-refined-into-clarity voice. It must be extraordinary to look at, extremely fast, lightweight, accessible and SEO optimized.

PAGE STRUCTURE (single long home page, anchored sections, in this order)
1. Hero (short, one screen)
2. About the Author
3. About the Book
4. Tabbed section "The Record" with 5 tabs: The Timeline, The Family, The System, The Six Demands, Read Inside
5. Closing call to action + contact + footer
Plus supporting pages: /press, /privacy, /404.

NON-NEGOTIABLES
- Voice, tone, vocabulary and visual mood must match the manuscript (see Source Truths and Voice Guide).
- Never invent facts, dates, quotes, reviews, endorsements, ISBNs, prices or retailer links. If unknown, use a clearly marked placeholder and list it in /docs/OPEN-ITEMS.md.
- Book cover and author photo: use high-quality SVG/CSS placeholders sized to the final aspect ratios, swappable by changing one file path each.
- Performance budget: Lighthouse 95+ on all four categories (mobile), LCP <
1.8s, CLS 0, INP < 150ms, total JS < 30 KB gzipped, total initial page weight < 300 KB excluding the lazy-loaded hero image.
- Accessibility: WCAG 2.2 AA, full keyboard support, prefers-reduced-motion respected.
- Never publish the author's home address or phone number found on the copyright page. Use a contact form/email placeholder instead.
- Sensitive-content rules in Section 7 apply to every agent.

PROCESS
Follow the phases and gates in the plan. Assign work to the specialist agents, enforce file ownership, run the review gates, and return: (a) the repository, (b) /docs/OPEN-ITEMS.md, (c) a final QA report with Lighthouse and axe results.

2. Source Truths (all agents must read)

Book: The Generational Curse Breaker, subtitle A Family's Battle Against Undue Influence, Systemic Neglect, and the Theft of Carrie Evans's Legacy. Nonfiction. First Edition, 2025. About 51,000 words. Parts and chapters:

- Part One: Foundations and Fault Lines. Ch. 1 The Greyhound Janitor and the Cycle of Abuse; Ch. 2 The Twins and the Burden of Hemiplegia; Ch. 3 The Stranger in Langdon Park.
- Part Two: The Net Tightens. Ch. 4 Displacement and the Opportunists; Ch. 5 A Will Under Duress; Ch. 6 The Tragic End of Carrie Evans.
- Part Three: The Era of Isolation and Tragedy. Ch. 7 The Puppeteers Take Control; Ch. 8 Casualties of Neglect: The Brothers' Demise; Ch. 9 The Illusion of Companionship.
- Part Four: The Fight for Accountability. Ch. 10 Deaf Ears and Blind Eyes: The Systemic Failure; Ch. 11 The Legal Battlefield: Coercion vs. Free Will; Ch. 12 The Generational Curse Breaker.

- Also: Prologue (The Arithmetic of Loss), Author's Note, Author's Note on Sources, Foreword (A Letter That Should Never Have Been Written), Epilogue (What Justice Looks Like from Here), Acknowledgments.

Author: Victor L. Evans. In his seventies. Retired U.S. Army veteran. Two master's degrees (Public Administration; Human Resources Management). Self-described "not a professional writer." Based in Odenton, Maryland. Spent roughly thirty years writing to the FBI, the Metropolitan Police Department, Adult Protective Services, the D.C. Attorney General and Congress. In May 2025 he petitioned the U.S. Congress for an investigation.

Core story (summarize, never embellish): The Evans family home at 2905 Mills Avenue N.E., Washington, D.C. (Langdon neighborhood, across from Langdon Park). Father James William Evans Sr., Navy veteran, worked at the Greyhound terminal. Mother Carrie Viola Evans. Seven children. Sister Phyllis Lorraine Evans, born May 15, 1960 at Freedman's Hospital, lives with hemiplegia and right-hemisphere brain injury. A fire displaced the family; the book alleges a will was drafted under undue influence, the family was isolated, the home and forty acres in North Carolina were lost, and the author's brothers died amid neglect. The book ends with six formal demands for justice.

Fact-check rule: The manuscript contains some date ambiguity (for example the foreword references 1995 while the will chapter references 1996). Agents must quote dates exactly as the manuscript's relevant chapter states them, and log every ambiguity in `/docs/OPEN-ITEMS.md` for the author to confirm. Never silently "fix" a date.

3. Voice and Tone Guide (the "must sound like his book" spec)

The voice in one line: a disciplined veteran-administrator speaking plainly, with grief that has been "refined into clarity."

Traits

- Documentary, not dramatic. The author's stance: "I am not asking anyone to take my word for it. I am asking people to read the record." The site should feel like opening a well-kept case file.
- Precise and evidentiary. Dates, statutes, names of institutions, counts (thirty years, seven children, six demands).
- Restrained, then piercing. Short declarative sentences land after long, careful ones. Example rhythm: "It was not enough." / "I didn't forget."

- Ledger and audit metaphors. The book uses "arithmetic," "balance sheet," "audit," "record." Reuse them ("The Arithmetic of Loss," "This book is the audit").
- Place and home imagery. Brick row house, front steps swept on weekends, Langdon Park, windows, "The walls remember."
- Dignity first. Family members are named in full as an act of dignity. Phyllis is always a person, never a case.
- Not bitter, clear. Hope as "a discipline." Never use outrage-bait, all-caps shouting, exclamation points or clickbait.

Do

- Short paragraphs. Strong verbs. Concrete nouns (steps, strap, ledger, will, letter, grave marker).
- First-person author voice for author/book copy; neutral informative voice for navigation, labels and SEO text.
- Microcopy in the same voice: buttons like "Read the Record," "Open the File," "Stand on the Steps."

Don't

- No marketing hype ("explosive," "shocking," "you won't believe"), no emoji, no fake urgency, no invented testimonials, no profanity (the foreword contains a quoted profanity; never surface it).
- Do not state allegations as the site's own findings. Frame as "the author documents," "according to the author's account."

Signature phrases available for reuse (all from the manuscript): "Read the record." / "The Arithmetic of Loss." / "Thirty years. Thousands of pages. Hundreds of letters. Zero meaningful interventions." / "This book is the audit." / "The walls remember." / "I didn't forget." / "Hope is a discipline."

4. Visual Design System (the "must look like his book" spec)

Concept: The Evidence File meets the Family Home. Archival paper, typewriter exhibit labels, brick and brass, quiet light through a window. Nothing glossy, nothing startup-like.

Palette (CSS custom properties; verify contrast ratios)

Token	Hex (suggested)	Use
`--ink`	`#14110F`	Primary dark background, body text on paper
`--ink-2`	`#1E1A17`	Raised dark surfaces
`--paper`	`#F1E8D8`	Light sections, archival cream
`--paper-2`	`#E6D9C2`	Cards on paper
`--brick`	`#8E3B2F`	Primary accent (row-house brick), links, active tab
`--brass`	`#B8913F`	Ornament diamond ◆, dividers, focus ring on dark
`--mist`	`#9C948A`	Secondary text on dark
`--stamp`	`#B3261E`	Rare "EXHIBIT" stamp accent only

Typography (match the manuscript's Georgia + Courier feel, but stay light)

- Display and body: a high-quality serif. Preferred: self-hosted variable Source Serif 4 or Newsreader (WOFF2, Latin subset, `font-display: swap`, preload only the one weight used above the fold). Fallback stack: `Georgia, 'Times New Roman', serif`.
- Exhibit labels, dates, chapter numbers: Courier Prime or `ui-monospace` stack, small caps, wide letter-spacing.
- Max two font files above the fold. Total font weight budget: 80 KB.
- Fluid type with `clamp()`. Hero title around `clamp(2.6rem, 8vw, 6.5rem)`, tight leading, optical balance via `text-wrap: balance`.

Signature ornament: the book's divider `— — — ◆ — — —` becomes a reusable SVG/CSS section divider (thin rules, brass diamond that gently scales in on scroll).

Texture: paper grain via a tiny (< 4 KB) tiled SVG noise or CSS gradient. No large image textures.

Layout principles

- Alternate dark (ink) and light (paper) sections to create a "turning pages" rhythm.
- Generous whitespace, 12-column grid, readable measure of 60 to 70 characters.
- Mobile-first. Tabs become a horizontally scrollable tablist on small screens, never a hamburger maze.

5. Page-by-Page Content Blueprint

5.1 Header / Nav (sticky, minimal)

Wordmark "V. L. Evans" left. Anchors right: The Author, The Book, The Record, Contact. One button: "Get the Book" (placeholder link). Header gains a thin brass underline and background blur after 40 px scroll. Skip-to-content link first in DOM.

5.2 Hero (one viewport, short)

- Left/center: eyebrow in mono "A TRUE ACCOUNT · FIRST EDITION 2025", H1 The Generational Curse Breaker, subtitle (the full book subtitle), a one-line hook: "I am not asking you to take my word for it. I am asking you to read the record." Two buttons: Read the Record (scrolls to tabs) and Get the Book (placeholder).
- Right: the 3D-tilt book cover placeholder (portrait 2:3, 1200×1800 source, `<picture>` with AVIF/WebP, explicit width/height, `fetchpriority="high"`).
- Background: ink with a faint brick-elevation line drawing of a row house (inline SVG, under 6 KB) whose single window glows warm brass on load.
- Motion: staggered text reveal (opacity + 12 px translate, 600 ms, 80 ms stagger), cover floats in with a slight rotation then settles. A subtle scroll cue (vertical thread with a brass diamond).

5.3 About the Author

- Layout: portrait placeholder (4:5) with a thin brass offset frame, left; text right.
- Content (author voice, drawn from the Author's Note): U.S. Army veteran, two master's degrees, "not a professional writer," disciplined by decades of documentation, wrote the book because time is running out. Include a short pull-quote.
- A "By the numbers" strip using count-up on scroll: 30 years of documentation · 7 children in one row house · 6 demands for justice · 12 chapters.
- Facts only. No invented biography (birth year, awards, units).

5.4 About the Book

- Dark-to-paper transition. Left: sticky cover (parallax-lite). Right: description in three beats: The House (2905 Mills Avenue and the family), The Net (undue influence, isolation, a will under duress), The Reckoning (institutional failure and six demands).

- Who it's for (from the Author's Note): families of people with developmental disabilities, attorneys, social workers, judges, legislators, law enforcement.
- "Book details" card: title, subtitle, author, edition, year, pages/format/ISBN/price as clearly flagged placeholders.
- Buy/Read buttons (placeholders), "Request a review copy" link to /press.

5.5 The Record: 5 tabs

Accessible ARIA tabs (roving tabindex, arrow keys, Home/End), deep-linkable (`#timeline`, `#family`, `#system`, `#demands`, `#inside`). All panels are present in the HTML so search engines index them; JS only toggles visibility.

Tab 1: The Timeline. Vertical timeline drawn as a thread that fills with brass as you scroll. Entries styled as exhibit cards with mono dates. Seed events from the manuscript (agents must verify each against the relevant chapter): Greyhound era and the Mills Avenue home; Phyllis's birth (May 15, 1960); father's death (1980); the fire and displacement; the will (per chapter 5); Carrie Evans's passing (2004); the decades of correspondence; the 2017 letter to the FBI; the May 2025 petition to Congress. Each card links to its chapter in the Read Inside tab.

Tab 2: The Family. An "In Memoriam" wall. Cards for James William Evans Sr., Carrie Viola Evans, and the brothers named in Chapter 8 (James Evans Jr., Tyrone Eric Evans, Dwight Landers Evans, Phillip Leer Evans), and Phyllis Lorraine Evans. Dignified, quiet cards with a name, role in the family and one sentence drawn from the book. Hover reveals a candle-like glow, not a gimmick. Phyllis's card must be written with respect and without sensationalism. No photographs unless supplied and approved.

Tab 3: The System. "Deaf Ears and Blind Eyes." A grid of institution cards (Metropolitan Police Department, Adult Protective Services, FBI, Department of Veterans Affairs, Maryland and D.C. legal channels, Congress). Each shows what the author says he sent and what he says came back, in neutral language. Add the "balance sheet" visual: Thirty years · Thousands of pages · Hundreds of letters · Dozens of agencies · Zero meaningful interventions.

Tab 4: The Six Demands. The book's closing requests rendered as six numbered "exhibit" cards that flip or expand on click: independent guardian and evaluation for Phyllis; protective order and neutral guardianship; complete financial audit of 2905 Mills Avenue and the North Carolina land; dignified burials and headstone restoration for the brothers; plus the remaining two exactly as written in Chapter 12 (agents must read them, not guess). Add a short "What you can do" block (share the book, contact officials, request a review) with placeholders only for anything not in the manuscript.

Tab 5: Read Inside. Interactive table of contents (Parts and Chapters as an accordion) and three short excerpts chosen by the Content agent. Each excerpt is under 150 words, attributed with chapter, and ends with "Continue reading in the book." Candidate sources: the opening of Chapter 1, the "Arithmetic of Loss" passage, the closing "I didn't forget." Avoid profanity and any passage that names a living private individual in an accusatory way (see Section 7).

5.6 Closing CTA, Contact, Footer

- Full-bleed ink section with the line "I didn't forget." and the buttons Get the Book / Press and Media.
- Contact form (name, email, message, honeypot, no third-party scripts; submit via a form endpoint placeholder) or a `mailto:` placeholder. No home address, no phone number.
- Footer: copyright 2025 Victor L. Evans, sitemap links, privacy, and the nonfiction note from the copyright page.

5.7 Supporting pages

- `/press`: short bio (50, 100, 200 words), book facts, downloadable cover and headshot placeholders, review copy request.
- `/privacy`, `/404` (themed: an empty doorway with the line "This page isn't on the record.").

6. Motion and Interaction Spec

All motion must be purposeful, slow and dignified. No bounce, no confetti, no parallax that causes motion sickness.

Element	Effect	Implementation
Page load	Hero stagger reveal, window glow in house line-art	CSS keyframes, `animation-delay`

Element	Effect	Implementation
Section entrance	Fade + 16 px rise, 500 to 700 ms, `cubic-bezier(.2,.7,.2,1)`	IntersectionObserver adds `.in`; native `animation-timeline: view()` where supported
Section dividers	Brass diamond scales from 0.6 to 1, rules draw outward	SVG stroke-dashoffset
Book cover	Gentle 3D tilt on pointer move (max 6 deg), soft shadow shifts	Pointer events, `transform` only, disabled on touch and reduced motion
Headline emphasis	Underline "ink draw" under key words on reveal	CSS background-size transition
Stats strip	Count-up once when visible	400-byte JS, no library
Timeline	Thread fills with scroll progress; cards slide in alternating sides	CSS scroll-driven animation with JS fallback
Tabs	Underline slides to active tab; panel cross-fades 250 ms	CSS transitions, `View Transitions` where supported
Family cards	Hover: warm glow border and slight lift; focus-visible gets identical treatment	CSS only
Demands cards	Click to expand with height animation via `grid-template-rows`	CSS only
Buttons and links	200 ms color/underline transitions; brass focus ring	CSS only
Header	Blur + underline after scroll	One passive scroll listener, rAF throttled

Rules: animate only `transform` and `opacity`; no layout-thrashing; `@media (prefers-reduced-motion: reduce)` disables all of the above except instant state changes; no animation library; total animation JS under 6 KB.

7. Sensitive Content, Legal and Ethics Rules (apply to every agent)

This book names real people and describes alleged exploitation of a disabled adult and the deaths of family members. The site must be powerful and careful.

1. Attribution framing. Present allegations as the author's documented account ("the author documents," "according to the book"). Never state them as the site's own findings.
2. Named individuals. Do not create standalone pages, headlines, meta descriptions or social cards that accuse a named private individual of a crime. Name the institutions and the family (the book's dignity act), but keep accusatory names inside quoted book excerpts only, and have the Legal/Ethics agent approve each one.
3. Phyllis Lorraine Evans. She is a living person with a disability. No photos, no medical details beyond what is needed to describe the book, no language that treats her as a spectacle. Always "Phyllis," always as a sister and a person.
4. Privacy. Do not publish the author's home address or phone number. Do not publish addresses of other living people. The Mills Avenue address may appear only as the book's historical setting, as it does in the title chapters.
5. No invented proof. No fake documents, "leaked" evidence graphics or fabricated court filings. Exhibit-style cards are a design language, not claims.
6. Recommendation to the owner: have an attorney review the final copy before launch. Log this in `/docs/OPEN-ITEMS.md`.
7. Care resources. Include a quiet footer note pointing readers to Adult Protective Services and the Eldercare Locator as general resources. Agents must verify current official contact details before adding any.

8. Technical Architecture, SEO and Phases

8.1 Stack (lightweight and fast)

- Astro (static output, zero JS by default) with TypeScript. Plain CSS (modern CSS with custom properties, `@layer`, container queries). No Tailwind runtime, no UI framework.
- Vanilla JS "islands" only for: tabs, cover tilt, count-up, header scroll, accordion.
- Images: `astro:assets` generating AVIF/WebP with `srcset`; hero image eager with `fetchpriority="high"`, others lazy.

- Hosting: Cloudflare Pages or Vercel (static). Brotli, immutable asset caching, HTTP/2 or 3, security headers (CSP, `X-Content-Type-Options`, `Referrer-Policy`, `Permissions-Policy`).
- Analytics: privacy-friendly and optional (Plausible or Cloudflare Web Analytics). No cookies, no consent banner required.
- Folder ownership is enforced in Section 9 to prevent merge conflicts.

8.2 SEO

- Titles and meta: unique per page. Home title example: The Generational Curse Breaker | Victor L. Evans, A True Account of a Family's Fight for Justice (under 60 characters ideal; agents tune). Meta description 150 to 160 characters in the book's voice.
- Target topics (natural language, never stuffed): Victor L. Evans author, The Generational Curse Breaker book, true story family memoir, undue influence and will contests, financial exploitation of disabled adults, guardianship failures, Adult Protective Services failures, Black family homeownership in Washington D.C., Langdon Northeast D.C. history.
- Structured data (JSON-LD): `Book` (with `author`, `datePublished` 2025, `bookEdition`, `inLanguage`; leave `isbn` and `offers` out until real), `Person` for the author, `WebSite`, `Organization` if applicable, `BreadcrumbList`, and `FAQPage` using the FAQ in the Book section (add a short FAQ of 5 to 6 questions answerable from the manuscript).
- Technical: semantic landmarks, one H1, logical heading order, canonical URLs, `sitemap.xml`, `robots.txt`, Open Graph and Twitter cards with a 1200×630 generated image, `hreflang` not needed, descriptive alt text, human-readable URLs, internal links between tabs and press page, `lang="en"`.
- Core Web Vitals: budgets in the Master Prompt, verified in Phase 5.

8.3 Phases and gates

Phase	Output	Gate to pass
1. Discovery	Read the manuscript; produce `/docs/SOURCE-NOTES.md` (facts, dates, quotes with chapter refs), `/docs/OPEN-ITEMS.md`, voice samples	Orchestrator confirms every fact has a chapter citation

Phase	Output	Gate to pass
2. Strategy and content	Final copy for every section in `/content/*.md`, FAQ, meta, alt text	Voice agent signs off; Legal/Ethics agent clears Section 7
3. Design system	Tokens, type scale, components, hi-fi layout spec (desktop and mobile), asset placeholders	Contrast check passes; design matches Section 4
4. Build	Astro project, components, all pages, motion layer	`npm run build` clean; no console errors
5. Optimize and QA	Lighthouse (mobile), axe, keyboard test, reduced-motion test, cross-browser, broken-link check	All budgets in Master Prompt met
6. Launch pack	`/docs/DEPLOY.md`, `/docs/ASSET-SWAP.md`, `/docs/OPEN-ITEMS.md`, handover checklist	Owner replaces placeholders; attorney review done

9. Agent Roster and Role Prompts

Each agent writes only in its own folders. Conflicts go to the Orchestrator.

Agent 0: Orchestrator / Project Manager

Own the plan, the phase gates and /docs. Break work into tasks, assign them, enforce file ownership, resolve conflicts, and block any phase that fails its gate. Maintain /docs/OPEN-ITEMS.md. Never allow invented facts. Deliver the final report.

Read the full manuscript. Produce a fact sheet: people, places, institutions, dates, laws and cases cited (Beaucar v. Bristol, Acker v. Acker, Arbogast v. MacMillan, Monk v. United States), the six demands verbatim, 20 candidate pull-quotes (each under 40 words, with chapter and section), and a list of date or fact ambiguities. Mark every sensitive passage. Do not write marketing copy.

Write all site copy in the voice defined in Section 3, strictly from SOURCE-NOTES. Deliver: hero, author bio, book description (three beats), stats, timeline cards, family cards, institution cards, six demand cards, three excerpts under 150 words, FAQ (5 to 6 Q&As), press bios (50/100/200 words), microcopy, meta titles and descriptions, alt text. Every sentence must sound like Victor L. Evans: precise, restrained, dignified. No hype, no exclamation points, no emoji.

Agent 3: Legal and Ethics Reviewer (owns /docs/REVIEW-LEGAL.md)

Review all copy and design against Section 7. Flag any statement that presents an allegation as fact, any accusatory headline or meta text about a named private individual, any detail about Phyllis that is unnecessary, and any private contact data. Return approve, revise (with exact replacement text), or remove for each item. Recommend attorney review.

Agent 4: Brand and UI Designer (owns /design)

Translate Section 4 into a design system: tokens (colors, type scale, spacing, radii, shadows), component specs (buttons, tabs, cards, timeline, accordion, header, footer, dividers), and responsive layouts for 360, 768, 1280 and 1920 px. Produce SVG assets: row-house line art (under 6 KB), diamond divider, paper grain, book cover placeholder (2:3), author portrait placeholder (4:5), favicon set, OG template. Verify WCAG AA contrast for every pairing.

Agent 5: Frontend Engineer (owns /src, /public, astro.config)

Build the Astro site from /content and /design. Semantic HTML first, CSS second, JS last. Implement the tab component with full ARIA and keyboard support and deep links. All tab panels rendered in HTML. No frameworks, no animation libraries. Keep total JS under 30 KB gzipped. Use astro:assets for images. Implement JSON-LD, sitemap, robots, OG tags and security headers.

Agent 6: Motion and Interaction Engineer (owns /src/motion)

Implement Section 6 exactly. Animate transform and opacity only. Use native CSS scroll-driven animations with IntersectionObserver fallbacks. Respect prefers-reduced-motion everywhere. Provide a single motion.css and motion.js under 6 KB combined gzipped. No scroll-jacking.

Agent 7: SEO and Structured Data Specialist (owns /src/seo, /docs/SEO.md)

Own titles, descriptions, headings audit, internal linking, JSON-LD (Book, Person, WebSite, BreadcrumbList, FAQPage), sitemap, robots, canonical and social cards. Never include isbn or offers until real values exist. Produce an SEO checklist and verify with a structured-data validator.

Agent 8: Performance and Accessibility QA (owns /docs/QA-REPORT.md)

Run Lighthouse (mobile and desktop), axe-core, keyboard-only traversal, screen reader smoke test, reduced-motion test, 360 px overflow test, slow-3G throttling, broken-link check. Fail the build if any budget in the Master Prompt is missed. Report precise fixes to the owning agent.

Agent 9: Launch and Handover (owns /docs/DEPLOY.md, /docs/ASSET-SWAP.md)

Write step-by-step docs for deploying to Cloudflare Pages or Vercel, connecting a custom domain, swapping the real cover and author photo (exact file names, sizes, aspect ratios), updating buy links and ISBN, enabling the contact form endpoint, and updating JSON-LD when ISBN and price exist.

10. Asset Placeholder Spec

Asset	Placeholder	Final spec
Book cover	Typographic SVG cover: ink background, brass diamond, title in serif, author name in mono	1200×1800 px JPG/PNG source, delivered as AVIF + WebP + JPG; file `/src/assets/cover.*`
Author portrait	Silhouette-free tonal SVG frame with initials "VLE"	1200×1500 px, warm neutral color grade, file `/src/assets/author.*`
OG image	Generated from cover + title	1200×630 px, under 100 KB
Favicon	Brass diamond on ink	SVG + 32 px PNG + Apple touch icon
Family photos	None by default	Add only if the author supplies and approves

---

11. Acceptance Checklist (definition of done)

- Hero is one viewport, loads fast, cover and headline visible with no layout shift.
- Sections appear in the required order: Hero, Author, Book, Tabs (5), Closing.
- Copy sounds like the manuscript; Voice and Legal agents have signed off.
- Every fact traces to a chapter in SOURCE-NOTES; no invented ISBN, price, reviews or dates.
- Placeholders are marked, swappable in one step, and listed in OPEN-ITEMS.
- Animations are smooth at 60 fps, subtle, and fully disabled under reduced motion.
- Lighthouse 95+ (Performance, Accessibility, Best Practices, SEO) on mobile; JS under 30 KB gzipped.
- Keyboard and screen reader complete the tabs, accordion and contact form.
- No private address or phone number anywhere in the build or source.
- Attorney review noted as completed or flagged as pending.

12. Open Items to Confirm with Victor L. Evans

1. Final cover art and author photo (and a preferred author bio length).
2. Publisher or self-publisher name, ISBN, formats, price, release date, retailer links.
3. Any real reviews, endorsements or press mentions he wants displayed.
4. Preferred contact email and whether he wants a contact form or email link.
5. Confirmation of date ambiguities (1995 versus 1996 for the will, and any others the Manuscript Analyst flags).
6. Approval of which named individuals may appear in excerpts, after legal review.
7. Domain name preference (for example victorlevans.com) and social profiles, if any.
